

RETROSPECTIVE REVIEW: EFFICACY AND COMMERCIAL EXPERIENCE WITH EMSCULPT NEO

COMMERCIAL AND CLINICAL ASPECTS OF HIFEM AND SYNCHRONIZED
RF DEVICE USED AT DERMATOLOGY, PLASTIC SURGERY AND BODY
SHAPING AESTHETIC MEDICINE PRACTICES: A BRIEF OVERVIEW

Adair Blackledge, MD¹, Kathleen Behr, MD² AND Harvey Cole III, MD, FACS³

1. Blackledge Face Center, Mississippi, USA; 2. Behr Laser & Skin Care Center, California, USA;
3. Slim Studio Face & Body, Georgia, USA;

Published in the Journal of Aesthetic & Reconstructive Surgery, July 2023, DOI: 10.36648/2472-1905.9.3.156

HIGHLIGHTS

- Three practices with different specialties who possessed the device for at least 28 months were analyzed - Dermatology, Plastic Surgery and Medical Spa.
- Analysis demonstrated steady device utilization across practices situated in diverse geographic regions.
- Practices were able to recuperate their investment within 4 months after acquisition.
- The practices maintained a high volume of treatments throughout the surveyed period of 28 months.

AVERAGE MONTHLY TREATMENTS

110

Dermatology Practice
Fresno, CA

79

Plastic Surgery Practice
Jackson, MS

102

Medical Spa
Atlanta, GA